Hot work preparing a modest Kenyan staple

Local couple sees firsthand the devastation wrought by sub-Saharan AIDS pandemic

By ALISON ALOISIO

In a recent visit to Kenya — a country decimated by AIDS — Bob and Cynthia Laux of Bethel found themselves "overwhelmed and depressed at times," according to Cynthia.

The statistics are grim. What corresponds to the baby-boomer generation in the United States has been hit hard over the past 15 years by AIDS. Sixty percent of Kenyans are now age 16 or under, and many of them are also infected with the disease. The overall life expectancy has dropped by 20 years.

But despite those figures, the couple also found reason for hope, in the efforts of people like Bob's aunt, a nun known as "Sister Mike."

SISTER MIKE

On their guard

The Lauxs traveled to the African country to visit Sister Michael Marie Laux at the rural parochial girls' school where she teaches.

When they first arrived in Kenya, they spent a night in the city of Nairobi, where, they said, tourists

U.S. Consulate not to go out alone," said Bob. Thieves are a threat to tourists driving along city streets. For example, "street kids" will run up to cars stuck in traffic, open the door, and grab a purse, he said.

They felt less threatened in the rural region where they spent most of their time, but still needed to be careful.

"We usually traveled with a missionary," Bob said.

Trash and waste, both human and animal, are obvious everywhere in villages, he said. People are forced to spend a day walking to fetch drinkable water.

Life is somewhat better at the school and convent, where Bob and Cynthia stayed. Sister Mike's role is primarily that of a teacher. At the same time, said Bob, she and the other sisters are trying to teach

County is now willing to discuss having S.O. provide police coverage in Bethel

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The on-again, off-again discussion of whether Bethel should have its own police department or rely on the county to provide coverage is on again.

In August Town Manager Scott Cole — on the instruction of the Board of Selectmen — approached the county to find out how much it would cost the town to have the county provide a level of coverage equal to the 24/7 coverage now provided by the Bethel P.D.

Cole provided the county commissioners with a detailed description of the coverage that would be expected — everything from patrolling 17 miles of state highway and 56 miles of town roadway, to supporting school functions such as dances and sporting events.

The county was not interested. County Sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick replied to Cole: "your request for law enforcement services for the town of Bethel was discussed and the commissioners unanimously agreed that the proposal for a Law Enforcement Contract would not be in the best interest of Oxford County, due to the added liability and responsibility. The commissioners have taken a definite position on this issue."

But less than six months later that position appears much less definite, and the commissioners now want to discuss the matter not only with Bethel, but also with Fryeburg, Dixfield and Mexico — other county towns that are looking at their own police coverage.

Earlier this month, Herrick wrote again to Cole, this time saying: "At the last meeting of the Oxford County Commissioners, they agreed to discuss the possibility of

Pilots can now fill 'er up, self service, at the Bethel Airport

By ALISON ALOISIO

For pilots flying into the Bethel Regional Airport it's now as simple to purchase fuel for their airplanes as it is for the rest of us to fill up our cars — just pull up to the pump and pull out the credit card.

But the process of getting the fuel to the pump is a bit more complicated than at your local gas station or convenience store.

The local airport received its first delivery of aviation fuel last week, accompanied by nearly as much care and concern as would go with the delivery of a first-born baby.

And for good reason. Automobile drivers can live with a tank of questionable fuel that makes an engine run a little rough. But in an airplane, simply pulling over and idling a while isn't an option.

So when the 12,000-gallon tanker truck pulled up to the storage tank at the airfield, its first step was to just park and wait. The tanker sat for about 10 minutes, so any possible contaminants could settle to the bottom.

To help ensure purity, the tanker is dedicated to the delivery of aviation fuel only. That means no loads of kerosene or anything else in between aviation deliveries.

After 10 minutes, as town officials and Fire Department representatives looked on, Mike Leech of Air BP Ltd. drew out a pail full of

New airport lease draft helps clear the way for future development

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Things may finally be looking up for the Bethel Regional Airport. Yesterday, a self-service fuel system became active (see related story), and the Airport Authority is nearly finished drafting a model lease to use for anyone wishing to build new hangars at the airport.

And at least one developer is anxious to do just that.

Gregg Webb, a builder from Scituate, Mass., surprised the Bethel community last fall when he announced he'd like to build up to 40 T-hangars last fall.

Webb said he is still interested in building new hangars at the airport, and would like to start construction this spring. But he said he needs information from the authority before he can proceed.

"I cannot design a building until I find out how much land they're willing to sell or lease to me," Webb said. "I haven't heard a thing since October or November."

"They're supposed to get back to me with a lease, possibly a 99-year lease. I've given them ideas and guidelines to work from in hopes they could develop a good plan, one that would encourage expansion rather than discourage it."

Danny Gibbs, chairman of the authority, said the authority has been working on a draft lease, which is nearly ready to take to the Board of Selectmen for approval.

Bowling rolling back into Bethel

By ALISON ALOISIO

Mini-lane bowling is coming to the BIG Adventure Center.

Bill Dunton, owner of the amusement center, said four mini-lanes are expected to be up and running in time for February school vacation. The lanes are two-thirds the length of standard ones.

The computer-scored lanes feature 10-pin style bowling. The balls, however, do not have finger holes and are slightly larger than a candlepin ball.

Dunton spotted the portable, coin-operated lane setup at a recent International Association of

IT'S STEAMING HERE, TOO — BUT NOT FROM THE HEAT—A sleigh full of people pulls up to the dinner camp Saturday night at Sunday River Stables. Two sleighloads braved subzero temperatures for a "Dinner Ride" through the woods at Sunday River Ski Resort. The emphasis this night was on the dinner and hot chocolate inside proprietor Peter McNaughton's woodstove-heated tent. McNaughton also offers day trips (824-6743 for reservations). DANGEROUS INTERSECTION

To the Editor:

I am writing with a concern about the intersection at the Sunday River Road and Route 2. On many occasions, myself, as well as many others, have experienced very close calls with the vehicles exiting the Sunday River Road, especially during the winter ski season. I am writing to suggest a stoplight be placed at that intersection before a fatal accident occurs. It is very dangerous not to mention frustrating when a vehicle darts out in front of you without warning while you are going 55 down Route 2.

REMEMBERING REBECCA BAILEY

To the Editor:

Even though Rebecca Bailey didn't want any fuss at her passing, I would like to pay tribute to the life of a lively, intelligent, feisty lady. What a zest for life she had. She thoroughly enjoyed traveling, mountain climbing, studying French, teaching — always teaching. Perhaps because of her love of teaching Beckie strived to learn her entire life. She was knowledgeable and interested in so many areas: art, history, politics, gardening, people.

She was active for several years with the NTL program at Gould Academy, and because of her I participated in a training session, which was a learning experience for me.

Beckie was very well read and was the leader of our book discussion group for 38 years — always encouraging us to read challenging material and always interested in what was going on in our lives. We miss her.

She made a difference in our lives. She made a difference in my life. Beckie will long be remembered in the hearts and minds of her friends and family.

WINTERFEST BALLOON RIDES

To the Editor:

The 2003 Bethel WinterFest, from Friday, Jan. 31 to Sunday, Feb. 9, will offer a variety of exciting activities for everyone. The first weekend, Jan. 31 to Feb. 2, five hot-air balloonists will arrive in Bethel, ready to fill the skies with their colorful flying machines.

Balloon ascents are planned, weather permitting, on Friday and Saturday afternoon, at 3 p.m. sharp, and on Saturday and Sunday mornings at 7 a.m., with the crews meeting at the Bethel Airport to determine ideal inflation locations, based on wind direction. Anyone seeking to help the crews with inflation, to seek a ride on a space-available basis or to just watch this awesome phenomenon, should arrive no later than 7 a.m. or 3 p.m. Rides will be offered by the balloonists for $175 per person and reservations may be made by calling the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce office at 824-2282.

A new event recently added to the WinterFest schedule is on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 1 at the Bethel Airport. From 1 to 3 p.m., one balloonist has offered to do tethered balloon rides for $10 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under, with the proceeds going to the Chamber of Commerce's Scholarship Fund. Additionally, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., a hot-air balloon "moon-glow" event will be held at the Bethel Airport, where folks can enjoy the beauty of the colorful balloon canopies being lit up with the powerful propane flame. This is a spectacular site. We hope to see lots of local people at this great event.

MUSICAL THEATER FUNDRAISER

To the Editor:

Telstar Regional High School is excited to announce a revival of spring musical theater on the stage of Helen C. Berry Auditorium. At this time, scripts and music for "Anything Goes," "Li'l Abner" and "Bye Bye Birdie" are among those under consideration along with several others.

As we eagerly anticipate auditions, rehearsals and production, many hurdles must be overcome and we're in true need of help from the communities of SAD44. Due to the extended omission of musical drama productions, many very necessary components of musical theater are no longer included in the school budget, such as music director, choreographer, money for scripts, royalties and production sights, set materials, costumes and printing costs. Having directed successful productions at nearby SAD43, I personally assure all that the aforementioned expenditures are absolutely necessary for a worthy staging of musical theater.

The purpose of this writing is to announce a fundraising campaign so that spring musicals may be successfully reintroduced at Telstar Regional High School. We are now actively soliciting financial support from the citizens and businesses of SAD44 in the form of sponsorships to Friends of Telstar Theater. Sponsors will be listed in the show program under the following categories: Stage Crew Sponsor: $25; Understudy Sponsors: $50; Lead Role Sponsor: $100 (includes a 1/8th page ad space); Director's Sponsor: $250+ (includes a 1/2 page ad space).

Please consider becoming a sponsor of theater at Telstar. It is an enriching, hardworking and teamwork experience for students like none other. Any contribution will be appreciated more than anyone will know. Please make checks payable to SAD44/Spring Musical and mail to Telstar Regional High School, 284 Walkers Mills Road, Bethel, ME 04217. Thank you.

Aviation fuel

QUALITY CONTROL
Mike Leech of Air BP pours aviation fuel into a hydrometer held by John Maher of Tanks Unlimited (the company that supplied the fuel storage tank at the Bethel airport). The hydrometer is used to check the specific gravity of the fuel, one indicator of its quality.

the sky-blue colored fuel from a nozzle at the bottom of the tanker.

Leech is the quality control specialist for Air BP.

Retreating to the airport shelter because of single-digit temperatures, the group listened as Leech instructed them on how to analyze the fuel for purity. In the future, the town will be responsible for making sure the airport gets a safe, quality product in each delivery.

Leech said the Federal Aviation Administration currently does not monitor fuel quality as closely as it does other aspects of aviation, so the companies themselves take meticulous steps to assure safety. Stricter monitoring by the FAA is planned for the future.

Leech first checked by eye for any obvious contaminants, then poured the fuel into a hydrometer to measure its specific gravity and temperature.

As the group waited for the instruments to register, Leech described the other steps for taking deliveries, which are expected to take place about once a year.

A member of the Fire Department, or other town official, will be required to be present during the entire pumping process, which takes about an hour.

If they notice anything suspicious about the fuel at any time during the delivery, he said, they should call his company and question it. "Make them take on the liability," he said.

If a firefighter must respond to a fire call during the time the fuel is being pumped into the storage tank, the tanker driver must stop pumping and wait for him to return, said

Leech.

On this day, the fuel checked out to specifications. The driver went on to pump some 8,000 gallons into the storage tank.

Town Manager Scott Cole was among those watching the delivery. "I'm impressed at the thoroughness of the process to insure quality of product," he said afterward.

Discount for locals

Aviators who base their planes at the Bethel airport will receive a discount.

The starting sales price, said Cole, will be $2.50 a gallon, subject to change with market conditions and pricing strategies. The Airport Authority will receive all revenues from fuel sales. At $2.50/gallon, he said, the approximate profit per gallon is 40 to 50 cents.

Leases

Monday night, the selectmen reviewed one clause in the lease on which the authority couldn't reach consensus. The clause would give the town the first right of refusal on the sale of any future hangar built on the leased ground.

Some members of the authority thought the clause should be dropped; others wanted it to remain.

This is the same provision that was in the American Ski Company (ASC) lease, and. The clause led to a Town Meeting vote not to purchase the ASC hangar, after Dr. John Mason had made an offer on it.

The selectmen decided that the clause should not be included in future leases at the airport.

According to Gibbs, the draft lease uses much of the language of the ASC lease, but is better organized.

The draft is a 20-year lease at $35 a square foot for ground on which to build a hangar. This rate would be adjusted annually to keep pace with inflation.

The draft contains a clause for renewing at the end of 20 years.

The lease rate, $35, is the same as the rates at the airport in Rangely. But it is much higher than rates at similar airports around the nation. According to one authority member, the airport in Fryeburg leases space for just pennies a square foot.

Webb said he wonders if the rates are too high. "A twenty-year lease being revisited each and every year at $35 a square foot could be construed as a building ban. It is probably one of the highest rates in the nation."

Gibbs promised that Webb, as well as any other party interested in developing hangar space at the airport, would get a copy of the lease and be invited to meet with the authority as soon as the lease is completed.

The lease is just a draft, Gibbs stressed, and if the rate proves to be unreasonable, it can be adjusted.

Webb's interest still strong
Webb's interest in the Bethel Airport is strong enough that he also made an offer on the ASC hangar after Mason decided not to purchase it.

But ASC received a better offer from Brian Cleary of Connecticut, who closed the sale with ASC on Nov. 27.

According to businesspeople in Webb's hometown, he has a first-rate reputation.

Webb owns a construction business in Massachusetts, where he has a long history of doing good work. He also owned a successful fitness center for 20 years. Last year, he purchased a marina in Scituate which he is improving.

Bob Lucey, past president of Putnam Investments, said, "He's built my home, addition, office." Lucey was impressed enough with Webb's abilities that he became partners with him in the marina.

Jeff Beck, vice president of commercial lending at Scituate Federal Savings Bank, said, Webb has had a relationship with his bank for over 20 years. "I've never known him to not be successful in a project," Beck said, "but he does his homework. The minute he commits to a project, that's time and money for him."

A number of other people made similar comments, all indicating they thought Webb capable of developing and running a successful hangar business at the airport.

Looking to the future

One thing is apparent. Both the members of the Bethel Airport Authority and Webb are thinking about the future of the airport and believe it's bright. Several of the authority members are as anxious to have some sort of development happen this spring as Webb is anxious to develop.

Thinking as far as 99 years into the future, Webb wonders where services such as an airport terminal and maintenance facilities will be. "Most successful airports in the country didn't grow overnight," Webb said. "They experienced growth at a slow rate. Planning for it now is certainly an advantage for the town and the success of the airport."

The future for the authority members is a little nearer, and based on the 20-year master plan. Gibbs said the plan is flexible but gives them guidelines about how the space should be used.

And the near future looks busy. Beyond finishing up the details of a lease, the authority has requested approval from the FAA to take over the lights, which are non-standard, but would allow for night landings.

Area residents will get a chance to see the airport firsthand at the end of the month. Several WinterFest events, which start on Jan. 31, will be held at the airport. They include the hot-air balloon displays and rides, snowmobile rodeo, antique snowmobile show, and radar run.

Authority members Gibbs, Autrey, and Cathy Newell all said they're excited to host public events there, and hope such events become a tradition.

Dumont reappointed

BETHEL—Reversing an earlier vote, selectmen have agreed to reappoint incumbent Appeals Board member Francis Dumont to another three-year term. At a meeting earlier this month, Dumont's application for reappointment was rejected 2-3, with Reggie Brown and Jack Cross voting in favor of reappointment, and Dutch Dresser, Don Bennett and Al Barth voting against it. But at Monday's selectmen's meeting a 20-minute executive session was held with Dumont, following which he was reappointed. Dresser and Bennett remained opposed, but Barth switched his earlier vote, resulting in a 3-2 approval. In other appointments, David Brown was appointed to the Capital Improvement Committee and Bonnie Pooley to the Conservation Commission. Both of the latter votes were unanimous.

No objection to MDOT light plan

BETHEL—Town selectmen have raised no objections to a plan by the Maine Department of Transportation to install a caution light and make other modifications to the intersection of Route 2 and the Parkway. The board has been pushing the state agency for years to make the intersection safer. There's tremendous potential there for a disaster," said chairman Dutch Dresser Monday evening. While raising no specific objections to MDOT's current plan for changes, the selectmen did discuss other possible improvements, including eliminating the westbound passing lane, and placing a caution light on the eastbound lane at the start of the cloverleaf hill, where some trucks, said Al Barth "have to go to get over the overpass." And if they encounter a situation, such as backed up traffic at the intersection, "They can't stop," he said. MDOT is current seeking local input on the $200,000 plan, which would be paid for by federal highway-safety funds.

Largess to run for selectman

NEWRY—Jim Largess told selectmen Tuesday he plans to run for the selectman's seat that will be vacated by the retirement of Bill Wight. Wight has served for most of the years since 1974, when he was first elected to the board. Largess, who works for Sunday River Ski Resort, has lived in town for 14 years.

Harren called to duty; resigns board

BETHEL—Jeff Harren, SAD44 school director from Greenwood, has resigned from the School Board and the Region 9 Board of Directors because his Marine Corps reserve unit, Alpha Company 1st Battalion 25th Marines, has been called to active duty. Harren has served in the corps for 22 years. He was notified of his unit's activation Jan. 12. Harren's tour of duty is expected to last at least a year. The unit is based in Topsham. Three months remain on his SAD44 seat. Fellow directors wished him well at his last board meeting on Jan. 13. On Tuesday, Greenwood selectmen appointed Gerald Broomhall to fill out Harren's term, which expires in May. They also appointed Hannelore Horn to replace Broomhall on the Planning Board.

Budget hearing tonight

WEST PARIS—The annual public budget hearing will take place tonight (Thursday) at 6 p.m. the Town Office. Residents, department heads and social service organizations will have an opportunity to make their case regarding the proposed 2003 budget. The meeting had been postponed from last week.

SAD17 wants to keep Agnes Gray

WEST PARIS—SAD17 Supt. Mark Eastman said last week the district is committed to keeping an elementary school in West Paris. The Agnes Gray School is not a candidate for state renovation funds because the building is too old, it was learned last week. If the state maintains that position, the only way to keep a school in the town would be to replace it. However, replacement requirements stipulate a minimum enrollment of 300 students, which Agnes Gray does not have. But Eastman said he would still make a case for a school because of the transportation costs to bring students to South Paris. He also said that in the early 1990s, the state endorsed keeping a school in each of the district's eight towns because of SAD17's large geographic area.

Region 9 budget up

MEXICO—A preliminary budget for Region 9 School of Applied Technology was presented to the Board of Directors last week. The plan includes a 12 percent increase for the secondary vocational program and a 4.5 percent hike for adult and community education. The requests were prompted by factors including a 20 percent increase in insurance premiums, higher staff salaries and a change in how the educational technician for the building trades program is paid. Other budget costs associated with the school building mortgage are not yet known. The board will consider the proposal over the next several weeks, with a final figure to go to public hearing expected in March.

Hearings for Newry, Greenwood plans

GREENWOOD—Newry will hold a public hearing on its proposed comprehensive plan Jan. 29 at 7 p.m. at the Grange Hall. The Greenwood Comprehensive Plan Committee will hold a review meeting on its plan Feb. 4 at the Town Hall. A potluck supper will precede the meeting at 6 p.m., with the forum scheduled for 7 p.m. Anyone planning to attend the supper is asked to bring a dish.

Library work to go to bid again

ANDOVER—Trustees are putting out bid requests for restoration of the Andover Public Library for the third time. The first two attempts brought only one bid, which trustees said was not acceptable. The work requires replacement of rotted sills and other wood in the basement, and it is difficult to tell how extensive the repairs are until the walls are taken apart, they said. The town has raised approximately $50,000 in grants and other funds to restore the library, which is on the National Register of Historic Places.

Antique mall for Cornwall site?

OXFORD—The former owner of the New England Public Warehouse in South Paris has a purchase and sale agreement to buy the former Cornwall Industries building on Route 26. Don Warming hopes to turn the 72,000 square foot building into the state's largest antique mall. He needs to find a large tenant for the antique mall by the end of the month, or the agreement will be torn up, he said. He said about 25,000 to 30,000 square feet would be used for the mall, with the rest going to other commercial or industrial use. The structure is located behind the Candle Place, near the intersection with Oxford Street.

Man indicted in hunting death

SOUTH PARIS—A Livermore Falls man has been indicted on a manslaughter charge in the shooting death of his hunting companion 13 months ago. No arraignment date was set for James R. Newcomb, 36, in Oxford County Superior Court. Newcomb was accused of killing David L. Noyes, 42, of Canton on Dec. 6, 2001, during the muzzleloading season for deer. Assistant Attorney General William Baghdoyan said a person can be charged with manslaughter if he or she caused the death of another human being and if his or her actions were reckless or criminally negligent. "Maine has a fairly strict target identification law. It requires that before you pull the trigger you must identify the head and torso of whatever animal you are shooting at," the prosecutor added. Defense lawyer Neal Pratt said Newcomb, who was Noyes' cousin, maintains that he was shooting at a deer. "He takes the position that this was a horrible accident and exactly that an unfortunate accident," Pratt said. "He believed that he was shooting at a deer."

the Sheriff's Office contracting for police coverage with the municipalities that may request such services."

The selectmen attributed the change of heart to what Chairman Dutch Dresser termed "pressure from stressful economic times."

Al Barth agreed: "Cut their budget a little and all of a sudden they get concerned," he said.

But Herrick told The Citizen the meeting was an attempt to establish a dialog with towns that have considered replacing their own police departments — so that everyone involved, including the county commissioners and local officials, is aware of the issues involved.

His suggestion for such a meeting was prompted in part by a move by some townspeople in Fryeburg to abolish their Police Department at an upcoming Town Meeting, he said.

If that were to happen, the responsibility for coverage would fall to the county and state police, he said, putting a serious strain on the Sheriff Department's manpower and ability to respond to calls throughout the county.

"It is not my ambition to take over police departments," he said, "but as an elected official I have to be ready to respond."

The matter will be taken up at the commissioners Feb. 18 meeting, and the Bethel selectmen have agreed to send Cole, but for informational purposes only at this point.

Any final decision on whether to disband the Bethel P.D. and switch to county coverage would be made by Town Meeting voters.

Kenyan nuns to eventually run their own schools.

In addition to visiting Sister Mike, the Lauxs also went to the country to follow up and provide feedback on several humanitarian projects associated with Rotary clubs and Rotary International.

The Bethel Rotary Club raised $3,000 toward a solar electrical/hot water system for Sister Mike's school, and those funds were matched by the larger Maine/New Hampshire Rotary district.

But even with the improvements at the school, the 200 students still share two outhouse-style bathrooms. And in the classroom, four girls share a single textbook.

"They learn to read upside down," said Bob, "and they take prolific notes."

One teacher boldly asked Cynthia to pay her tuition to further her own education. Other people asked the Lauxs to sponsor them to go to the United States. Said Cynthia, "if people have an opportunity to get out (of the country), they get out."

The Lauxs asked Sister Mike how she is able to keep from feeling overwhelmed herself by the difficulties faced by her charges and their countrymen.

"I can only affect one soul at a time," she replied.

Adds Cynthia, "In the education of the young there is certainly hope."

In December, the country held free elections for the first time, another reason to hope for a brighter tomorrow, said the Lauxs. "Kenya will be a better place to go in the future," said Cynthia.

Men, women not equals

The Lauxs, as a couple, were seen as an oddity by the natives, who were used to seeing unmarried missionaries. The Kenyans were unsettled by the fact that Cynthia and Bob relate as equals. In the native culture, women are subservient, and men may have as many wives as they can financially support.

Cynthia was treated like a celebrity. At one point, all 200 girls from the school lined up single file to greet her and give her a kiss, she said.

As for Bob, he created something of a sensation when he went into the kitchen and cooked grilled cheese sandwiches. "They couldn't believe Bob cooks," said Cynthia.

One woman, who works in the home for the nuns, watched him rather disapprovingly, but eventually warmed enough to try his culinary creation. "After an initial standoff, she came around and ate lunch with the rest of us," he said.

Not all of the two-week visit was serious business. The Lauxs spent a couple of days sightseeing in a wildlife park in the northern Saren-geti Plains, where they saw cheetahs, giraffes, elephants and many other species.

Presentation planned

The couple will share their experiences with the public in a powerpoint presentation on Jan. 27 at 7 p.m., in the auditorium at Gould Academy's McLaughlin Science Center. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Isn't it interesting that the three most influential factors in developing a strong and literate student relation to a parent are modeling, reflecting and speaking. When parents read to their children, model and reflect what's important in life and spend time talking about it, wonderful things will happen.

The CPS after-school cross-country ski program began on Jan. 13. We are short of volunteers and there are a lot of kids signed up. The program runs from 3 to 4:30 p.m. at CPS Monday through Thursday. This week would be an especially useful time for volunteers as this is when equipment is issued and organized. The snow conditions at CPS were excellent last weekend, with nice tracks and a play area groomed.

Members of the Senior College traveled to Portland on Tuesday where they enjoyed visiting the Portland Museum of Art.

At Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge "no bottoms" game on Jan. 17, Don Johnson and Sue Ellis received no bottom boards for the day. With 5 1/2 tables our North-South winners were: first, Richard Allen and Eleanor Griffin; second, Bob and Sue Crane. East-West winners were: first place, Mike and Pat Quinn and second place, Howard and Virginia Cole.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester
What goes on in a small Maine town in the middle of January? Not much.

Trees get cut on the mountain, trucked to the chip mill and then they whiz by in the chip trucks going to the paper mill. A lot of folks would rather stay in where it's warm. Even dogs don't like the cold. They sniff about and soon scratch at the door to come in. Most spend the time in the sun by a favorite window.

Then when you just about had all of winter that you can tolerate, some old guy from Texas calls and tells you about how he just moved his lawn yesterday.

The cold weather does not stop the snow machines. Most snowmobile operators say there isn't enough snow. They always say that.

It is kind of hard to find news to report where there's not much going on. We could report on a few rumors, but there might be repercussions.

Roger Robin recently reported that a bobcat came out of the woods to his feeding station. Those who tramp through the woods say there are deer tracks almost everywhere.

After much confusion and frustration, the Hanover Town Office reports that it finally has received 2003 hunting and fishing licenses.

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham
What a week it was. It was cold and then it was colder. I used that as an excuse to not walk Tasha. Sorry, Tash, but I am getting weak in my old age and didn't want to walk in the cold and wind. Soon it'll be getting warmer. Another week or two, or three should do it.

In any case, it has been some cold, as they say, and I have had my share of cold weather problems. The pipes have frozen, the house has been cold and now the water pump does not work. At least my wood supply is lasting, although I noticed in the last week that I am getting close to half gone and mid-winter is not for almost two full weeks — Feb. 2 is the first cross quarter day and considered mid-winter. I am ready, as the forecast is for another 10 to 20 below night. I can only hope the pipes make it. Right now I have very little water and took a shower at Lynn's. I do have some water, but the pressure is very low and I don't dare take a shower.

Last week, after the pipes froze at 12:30 a.m., I realized that the furnace wasn't on and wouldn't come on. I called for help. The first attempt at fixing it did not do the job, and after a frantic phone call, Jack came after 8 p.m. at night. He let me know that in my attempt to get it running I had messed up by pressing the reset button more than once. That is apparently a no because it is like pressing the gas pedal too many times while trying to get the car started. He had to drain it. But the problem was bigger than that, and after he put a new motor in, he got it running. It has been running ever since. Now the pump has quit. It is like a three-ring circus. I am just waiting to see what happens next.

On other fronts, I am forgetting appointments and not keeping up with what I need to do. I am keeping the home fires burning, literally, but little else gets accomplished. I'm ready for a break and February vacation isn't for at least three weeks. This three-day weekend was all absorbed with little to do things and I didn't go out and have fun.

Actually, that last line wasn't true. On Friday, Dave and I went to the movies and to the Suds to dance. We actually stayed up late and had a good time. That was a nice change in the routine. Now I am getting ready to take two classes, one an ESL class for teachers, the other an exercise class. Both are taught right at Lewiston High School, so I can take them before coming home. Now if the temperature would break so I don't have to worry about coming home to frozen pipes ... Soon ...

Not much else happening. I am sure others in the valley have similar tales about frozen pipes and systems that don't function too well. It is winter in Maine after all. I guess we all just have to buck up and make the best of it. Have a good week and stay warm.

Gilead

by Elise Caswell
This past week has been a deep freeze. Crusty ice and hard-packed snow color the landscape white. Breath exhaled is visible and droplets of moisture freeze as they merge with the air. The wind carves patterns in snow and cloud and as the chair approaches unload at the top of North Peak, a sudden gust of powerful cold can plaster you against the lift, aware of your smallness in the face of the harsh elements.

It seems only natural that a warm-blooded animal like the human being would crave the hearth and the pile of comfy blankets warming the feathered nest. That's how it begins. We are seduced by our craving for warm comfort in winter. It feels good. It feels right. Before you know it, you've become a permanent fixture in the chair in front of the woodstove and slowly, your will to adventure into the Great North Woods has become a memory of colored leaves and kinder temperatures. Semi-hibernation sets in and with it a vulnerability to cabin fever. This metaphor can be extended right into the process of aging as well. Having confessed my arrival at the threshold called fifty, I am raking through the raw material of my life — the memories, the dreams unrealized, the triumphs and regrets in an effort to redefine myself as a citizen of the western Maine mountains.

It seems only hours ago that I was 12 and beginning to feel the pleasure of skiing with a measure of confidence. The feeling of flight, the exhilaration of the cold air and the invitation to risk all made fire-side gatherings take on a dramatic air of well-being. I remember a ski program in North Conway called "The Silver Streaks." It was a discounted ticket and club for skiers over fifty. Sunday River has a similar program called "Prime Time." I can see myself in the ticket line at Black Mountain looking carefully at the gray-haired skiers with deep wrinkles in their weathered faces. I recall being so impressed that people "that old" would dare to keep skiing.

Now here I am with my own gray hairs seeking the Zen of downhill skiing. Little did I know at the tender age of twelve, that skiing at fifty would be the tool that would ultimately bring me into harmony with myself. I confess — I was seduced by comfort and by the timidity of my own reluctant risk-taking into believing that my fear was more powerful than my freedom. For years I have been what they call a high-maintenance intermediate — frozen on the side of the mountain in the cold grip of insecurity and furious with my ski-pro husband trying, with infinite patience, to talk me through. Thank god Perfect Turn has lots of coaches. Finally, after three years of Women's Turn and group clinics, of hours of solo skiing practice because I didn't want to be a drag, I find myself growing younger. The exercise of being a small one on the mountain of life with two slender boards to negotiate the terrain has begun to work its magic. Those skis have become tools of liberation.

Now, instead of warming the cabin of my mind with its comfortable fears and fires of fury, I can choose to drop down into my child-like belly and move into the cold, the bumps, the headwall or whatever and feel the exile ration of trusting myself to move me through it. It is growth. It is sheer joy to move with arms outstretched over the up and down contour of the slopes and feel that "OOOO my tummy." It's a feeling I haven't had since I was a child who loved the rollercoaster. Isn't it funny that the child who looked admiringly at those "old" skiers of the sixties has grown into the old skier who can still feel the joy of that child of the sixties? If you want to create a receptacle for joy, stretch your comfort zone. Get out and play.

A great lunch-ent was enjoyed with gifts and cards, etc. May the future hold many more.

P.S. Of course, I was also there to enjoy everything. Did I miss anyone or anything?

Dennis and Rita Wilson were dinner guests of John and Nancy Wight on Jan. 15 for John's birthday. On Jan. 16, the family had a birthday party for John. Those attending were Jason and Sarah Berry, Retta Berry, Terri Littlehale, Katy G., Brad, Brenda, Kurt and Kevin Wight and Ed Powers. Wife, Nancy, made the cake.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

IT'S BACK! I hope all you skiers, snowmobilers, tubers, boarders, sledgers and ice fisher-people are happy. Winter's back and the rest of us who don't participate in winter activities and who don't like the cold are miserable.

It's not just the freezing arctic temperatures icing the blood in my veins, it's not just the blizzards that dump a million inches of snow in my driveway, it's not even the freezing rain turning the whole state into a crystallized rotunda that gets me down. It's everything about winter that makes me want to hibernate until May.

Think about the cold. What good is it other than keeping the black flies and mosquitoes under control? You have to wear big bulky coats, long johns, sweaters, extra socks, flannels, hats, earmuffs and mittens; and that's just to go to bed. Your bones creak, your joints ache, your skin dries out and flakes and your body gets all lumpy from goose bumps.

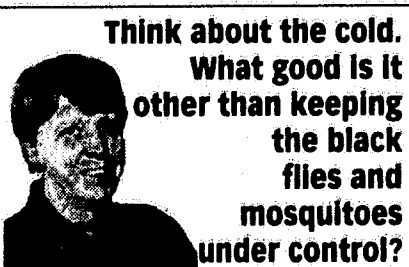

Then there are the fuel bills. By the time winter is over, the oilman and I will be on a first name basis. I'll end up knowing the names of his kids and their birthdays. And have you ever noticed that once you're way over budget on the oil bill the furnace will break down? It will happen on the coldest night of the year just when you're getting ready to go to bed. And of course you have to deal with it or you will wake up to frozen pipes. It never fails!

As for snow and ice, I can't think of one decent thing to say. Oh sure, I guess you can point out that it is beautiful after a snow or ice storm, but if I want to appreciate that kind of beauty, I'll look at the calendar the oilman gave me.

I certainly don't see anything beautiful about the white-knuckle driving caused by the road conditions when Mother Nature decides to beautify the landscape. I swear she must be suffering from PMS every time it storms.

There might be some people who like driving in that kind of crap, but they're either sick-minded psychopaths or out-of-state skiers who don't know any better. I don't fall into either category. I get nervous at the first sight of a snowflake and by the time there is an inch of snow on the ground I am a wreck. And without a doubt, when there is a major storm, I will have to go somewhere that I just can't get out of, like work.

Think about the cold. What good is it other than keeping the black flies and mosquitoes under control?

If it's bad enough to close the schools, it should be bad enough to close work. But no, it doesn't happen that way. Instead, I have to bundle up and shovel the driveway, which I always finish just in time for the snowplow to go by and bury me so I can shovel all over again.

Then once I'm on the road the fun begins. It's bad enough that I should be on the road in a state of panic, but there's all those other drivers in the same state I'm in. It's easy to recognize who we are; we're the ones going 5 M.P.H. with our hands frozen to the wheel and a look of horror on our pale faces. Don't come near us because we'll probably go into a skid and none of us are sure if we are supposed to steer into a skid or away from it, so we usually just put our hand over our eyes and hit the brakes.

You people who plow drive-ways, you know who we are, we're the ones laying on our horns, a scream frozen on our lips, our cars headed for the snow bank as you back your plow truck out in front of us. Why don't you plow in the middle of the night like the towns do?

Once us white-knuckle drivers get to our destinations it takes a while for us to get our hearts under control and pry our fingers from the steering wheel. It's really stupid to make us work on days like these. Once we're at work we spend the entire day looking out the window and worrying about how we're going to get home. That's not exactly productive, so our bosses should just let us stay home when it storms. The folks plowing driveways would certainly be grateful.

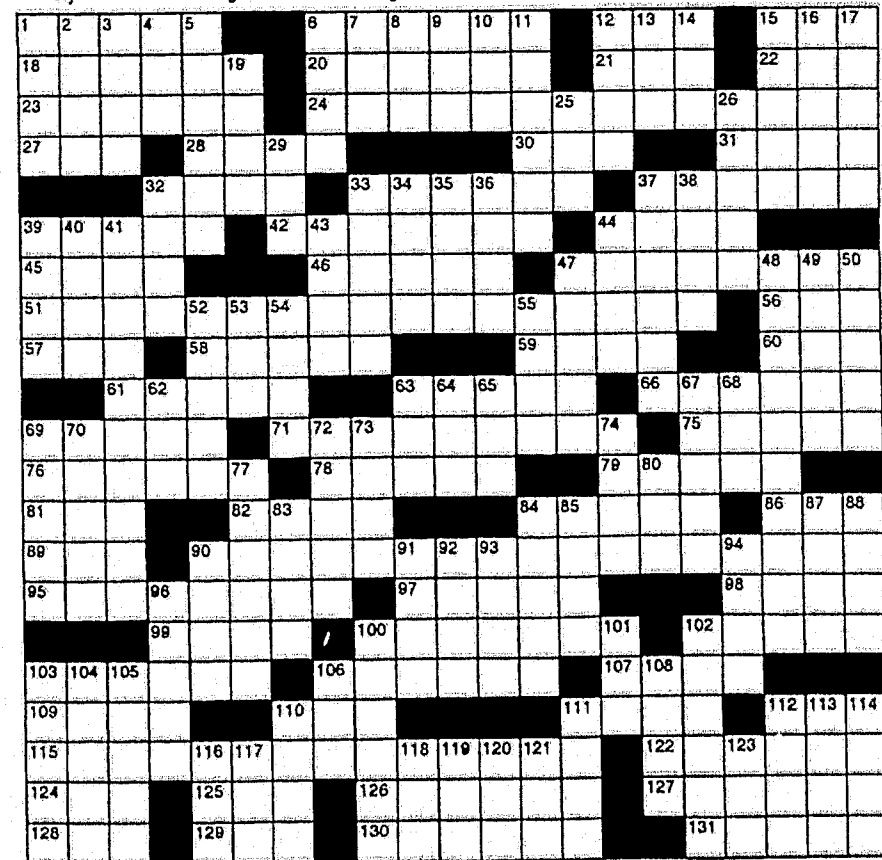

Another problem with winter weather is trying to keep the floors clean — forget it! When it isn't snow being tracked in to melt all over the clean floors, it's sand. Sometimes it's snow and sand. Sometimes it's snow, sand and mud. Give it up until spring. You can't win. You can ask people to take their boots off, but if their feet stink, you've got another problem.

So let's analyze what we're dealing with for all you winter lovers. Winter is messy, cold and dangerous. Fuel and electric bills go soaring costing us a bigger percentage of our paychecks. The roads are dangerous to drive on causing accidents and costing more money. Every year everyone has to buy some or several items of winter clothing costing yet more money. People get more colds and flus costing even more money. One has to feel that Mother Nature is in cahoots with big business.

So, what is good about winter? The way I see it, the only good thing there is about it, is that it will eventually end. Until then, I think I will just wrap myself up in a blanket and hibernate until the robins return from wherever the heck it is they go. I ask again — winter! What good is it?

Attention, Attention — there will be a Rabies Clinic held on Saturday, Jan. 26 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the fire station in Gilead. If you missed the one held in Andover, now is your chance. All dogs residing in Andover must be registered by Jan. 31. A $5 fine will be added to the cost of registration if you are late.

The Andover Public Library held its first Senior Citizen Day last Tuesday. Of course I'm writing this column before the event happened, but I'm sure it was a huge success. There are more days planned. Check with the library (392-4841) for the times. We want to thank especially Nancy Wardwell, Barbara Hayden and Molly Glover for their help in making this come true.

The Andover Elementary School collected $200 worth of Hannaford General Mills "School Dollar Certificates." This is $64 more than last year. You can still bring your soup labels to the various drop-off places around town. The school wants to thank Ann Marie Mahar for organizing the School Dollar program.

The musical adaptation of "Oliver Twist" will be presented on Saturday, Feb. 8 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Crescent Park School in Bethel. This production is being sponsored by the AES, CPS, and WES Parent-Teacher organizations. Auditions for extras will be held on Monday, Feb. 3 at 3 p.m. at Crescent Park School. Transportation from AES to CPS will be provided. For further info, you can call AES at 392-4381.

One of the nice things about having my mother home again are the phone calls she gets from her friends, all except one. I am usually the person who gets to the phone first, and let me tell you this one person who calls can really be "very" annoying. She knows who she is and I threatened to put this in my column, and I know she is getting a big chuckle out of it. Aren't you, Mary? Enough said.

The "Book of the Week" is "Trinity" by Leon Uris. It's a nice thick, long book — the kind I like. It's about the "troubles" in Ireland and was written quite a while ago, but after rereading it, I find that only the names have been changed, the situation is still just about the same. See 'ya.

Prolonged cold weather in the past week kept most of the village inhabitants indoors near the heat source, for several days below zero temps prevailed. We haven't seen our across-the-street neighbors, the Casey's, since New Year's. Even Maggie Magalloway, their Golden Retriever, hasn't come to visit preferring the fireside at home to cold paws.

Roger Lavalice completed the Animal Control Officer Certification in Augusta. He is now a certified animal control officer.

In spite of "frigid" conditions, Gene Wixom, Larry Nelson, and Jim Kenney snowmobiled to Dixville Peaks in Dixville Notch. The view was great but they didn't stay long. It was extremely cold.

Dick and Sue Angevine finally had their family Christmas Party on Jan. 19. A good time was had by all 19 members. Dick bulldozed a snow hill and made a snow trail off the structure. The kids had a great time sledding in spite of the cold. Good food, games, an auction and gifts were also enjoyed.

You may think that Christmas celebrations are over for the season. Wrong. Etta and Hartley Sweatt of Millsfield are planning their family Christmas Party to be held on Presidents' Day, Feb. 17. No problem. Millsfield looks like Christmas until late April.

The news from the "snowbirds" in Florida is that it's quite cold there, also. Do you call 45 degrees cold? I don't. We hear through the Upton grapevine that it is so cold in Lake Wales, Fla., that Buster Williamson could not go fishing. Baloney. That will never happen.

Congratulations to Ginny and Buster Williamson on their 58th wedding anniversary. It may be their 57th, but after 55, who is counting.

Belated Happy Birthday to Sylvia and Willard Wright.

The Cards and Pool gang held their annual Winter Breakfast at the Balsams Hotel on Jan. 20. Chef Phil Learned was there to welcome them. It was a fantastic meal. Of course it was all low fat and I would be glad to verify the double eggs benedict contained no cholesterol. The apple fritters received five stars. I think it is time to review and consider the Atkins Diet.

The birds have been plentiful. They all look very cold early in the morning, but they thaw out as the day goes by.

Al Gagnon sees the bald eagles daily over his pine trees. The crows have returned in abundance, also.

The Roys of East "B" Hill witnessed five partridges in their apple tree on Sunday.

We have a pair of house sparrows in winter residence at our feeder.

These little fellows are not very popular. All the bird books present the same idea that this bird can be a pest. It has a few bad habits. They are quite prolific having two or three broods each year. Their nests are a loose concoction of woven grasses, string, feathers, bits of plastic and other "stuff." They are not native to North America and all in this country are descended from a flock released in Central Park, in New York City in 1850. They are closely associated with man in the city and rural areas. They are native to North Africa and Eurasia.

The pair that we have are fun to watch. They seem satisfied with small pecks of peanut butter, bread crumbs and seed droppings from the feeder. "Black Jack Grackle" does not tolerate them in his territory, but the hardy little birds stand their ground and manage to eat well. The male has a black throat, white cheeks, a gray crown and rump. The female and the young are dull brown above with dingy white below. Their song is described as monotonous shrill, and noisy chirping. Sounds good after listening to the squawking blue jays and crows. The "Bird of the Week" is the House Sparrow.

LOCAL KIDS IN THAILAND—Local youths Jordan Cummings, Charles Parsons, Bailey Golden and Morgan Golden recently attended the 20th annual Scout Jamboree in tropical Thailand. The four, all students at Gould Academy, camped with 24,000 other Scouts from around the world and their adult leaders at the Thai naval base in Sattahip, southeast of Bangkok. Bethel Venture Crew 101 was the only Venturing unit to attend the Jamboree from Maine, where it is part of the Pine Tree Council. (Venturing is a division of the Boy Scouts of America designed to attract teens of both genders interested in high adventure and community service.) Crew 101 officers and the other scouts participated in field trips and workshops to learn about Thai culture and arts, such as glassmaking, kick boxing, traditional dance, and music. They shared foods, cultures and religions from more than 100 countries through communal meals, prayer services and entertainments. The Bethel students performed community service at a local elementary school and hiked through the jungle. Following the conclusion of the Jamboree, they joined Venture crews from the United States in touring Bangkok and its outskirts, where they visited the ancient Thai capital of Ayutthaya, the 18th century Royal Palace complex, and temples housing the two most famous religious images in Thailand. Jordan Cummings (Crew 101 vice president/programs) is the son of Becky and Wayne Cummings of Bethel. Charles Parsons (vice president/administration) is the son of Pattie and Jeffrey Parsons of West Bethel. Morgan (president) and Bailey Golden (treasurer) are the children of Bill Golden and Gwynne Morgan of Boston and Bethel. For membership information, see (http://www.geocities.com/venture13k/Crew_101.html?1023222439880) or contact Crew advisor Jeffrey Parsons at Bethel Outdoor Adventure (824-4224).

After the potluck supper, the officers were installed by Past President Alice Hoyt as follows: president, Elizabeth Hoover; senior vice president, Marybeth Hoover; junior vice president, Elsie Bonney; treasurer, Harriet Estes and Alice Hoyt; council members: 1—Helvi Cary; 2—Beatrice Farnum; 3—Bessie House; patriotic instructor, Sally Sawyer; secretary and Press Corp., Alice Hoyt; guide, Helvi Cary; guard, Michelle Cary; historian, Bessie House. Each one brought something for a sunshine box for Elena Noyes. Next meeting is Feb. 10 with each member making a valentine to bring of a size to be mailed. Alice Hoyt and Beatrice Farnum are on the refreshment committee. Thirty-seven calls were reported. The mystery package went to Elizabeth Hoover. Valentines will be written for veterans in nursing homes.

At the January meeting of the Historical Society, Gary Fuller described the equipment of the Civil War soldier. It included shoes, homemade shirt, pants with suspenders, a pocket watch, a coat, a haversack with many contents, a knapsack, a cartridge box, a bayonet, a canteen, a folded blanket, a hat and a musket. President Olive Risko read a research report and the curator shared some of his writings.

Annella Burnham and Mary Billings supplied refreshments. The February meeting will feature the video, "A Midwife's Tale," again at the Town Complex. The society will reinvent itself for the new millennium and the curator fully intends to have a hand in that process. No one can predict the final outcome, but the society has already gone through many changes over the years, and there will inevitably be more. They have established a great foundation on which to build, so the results should be stellar. The curator celebrated his 55th birthday on Jan. 20.

A birthday sliding party was held for Brandon Dunn, who turned five years old on Jan. 6. Also celebrating a birthday was Brandon's grandfather, Todd Poland. It was a Spider Man theme, which is Brandon's favorite character. Eighteen family members all took turns sliding on the hill at Phelps and Joan Poland's home in West Paris. Before the party, Phelps, who is 72 years young, slid down the hill several times to make good sliding conditions. A wonderful and fun time was had by all.

Brandon's parents, Diana and Jon Dunn, are visiting with Diana's parents, Todd and Lynda Poland, along with a younger brother, two year old Jarod. Diana and Jon live in Phoenix, Ariz. where Diana is a staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Margie Delgado, Lima, Peru, called Joan and Phelps Poland recently. Margie was an exchange student in 1967-68 and lived with Joan, Phelps and family for the school year at Oxford Hills High School. She said she's okay and that she still misses everyone.

Richard is enjoying retirement. He spent part of the day visiting with Oscar Annis recently. He worked for Oscar several years ago and they get together once in a while to talk about old times.

Kellie and Brad Record came up to visit Sunday and had lunch here. Kellie brought up some pictures of my great-grandson, Zack, that I received for Christmas. Zack is almost four years old and a real cutie.

We now have lots and lots of birds. They were quite scarce for a while but now there are several species at our bird feeders.

Guess the Arctic air is here to stay for a while. Perhaps, being so very cold, it might freeze out the flu germs that have been so prevalent as of late. Hope so for all our sakes. It has been incredible snowshoe and cross-country ski weather. According to some of my grandchildren, it has also been terrific "snow tubing" weather. That, along with snowmobiling are two things I have never done yet — probably never will. Hope you all will be super careful if out on your snowmobiles. There have been way too many bad accidents this year.

There have been some more Grange certificates presented at Franklin Grange 124 in Bryant Pond: 65-year certificate to Richard G. Felt, Grange master; 60-year certificate to Milton Mills of Bryant Pond; 55-year certificate to Charlotte Cole of Locke Mills, all members of Franklin Grange.

This last Saturday was the Legislative Speaker Day, so Wayne Sherman of the state Grange Legislative Committee and retired state Grange chaplain was our guest speaker. There were 22 in attendance on a very cold day.

On Thursday, Jan. 14, the Republican Group from Oxford County met at Franklin Grange 124 in Bryant Pond for a 6:30 p.m. supper followed by election of officers and a brief meeting. After a delicious potluck supper, the following officers were duly elected: chairman, Paul Billings; male vice chairman, Jim Kemper; lady vice chairman, Joan Putnam; secretary, Kathleen Ratin; treasurer, Louanne Cameron; finance chairman, Norman Ferguson Jr.

The following speakers reported: Sawin Millett, Waterford Representative, spoke on a balanced budget for the upcoming fiscal year. Ted Heidrich spoke about the Republicans not invited to the Inaugural Ball. Also, there were 18 young people from all over the state up at the State House recently to discuss the teenage problems of today and possible solutions. Next, Tom Winsor, recently elected registrar of probate, spoke briefly. Diane Stowe spoke on behalf of Senator Susan Collins, who is doing well on the Intelligence Committee. Senator Collins and Senator Snowe endorsed the heating program. Norman Ferguson was the last speaker of the evening.

West Paris Baptist Church met Wednesday evening for their annual meeting and election of officers on Jan. 15. After a sumptuous buffet supper downstairs at the church, the officers elected are as follows: moderator, Bruce Tynner; clerk, Cheryl Bacon; assistant clerk, Peggy Theofrastou; treasurer, Sandra Broberg; assistant treasurer, Jean Tynner; deacons: Ray Anderson (one year), Tom Standard (three years), Dave Broberg (three years); deaconesses, Jean Tynner (one year), Mary Alice Standard (three years); Sunday School superintendent, Jean Tynner; trustees: David Broberg (one year), Betty Jones (three years), Wayne Penley (one year); missions: Sandra Broberg, Betty Jones, Mary Alice Standard; kitchen committee: Cindy Johnson, Bertha DeHaas, Anna Swan, Peggy Theofrastou; music committee: Lisa Anderson, Bertha DeHaas, Mary Alice Standard, Jean Tynner, Maurise Veatch; flowers and cards: Cindy Johnson, Nancy Penley; nominating committee: Ken Bacon, Lisa Anderson, Cindy Johnson, trustee, deacon; publicity, Bertha DeHaas.

After the election was over and all the officers of the previous year had given their reports, we all welcomed Carla and Sam Hertzell as our new Youth Group leaders.

Old and new business items were discussed. Cheryl Bacon will print up new Church directories. Nancy Penley was recognized for her beautiful wreaths displayed at church throughout the year. Vacation Bible School for this next summer was discussed. Mary Standard will be our VBS chairwoman.

For upcoming events, there will be sliding and skating at Derby Hill in West Paris from 3 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 25, Saturday, Feb. 8, and Saturday, Feb. 22. The Snack Shack will be open for these special occasions.

Another week has come and it sure is cold. That wind hates to give up. No new snow, lately anyway. Snow machines are enjoying what we have.

Ann Payne was on the committee at the Promising Parish at the Congregational Church at West Paris.

David Holt came up to his parents' Sunday.

Sally Holt went to Boston to visit her daughter, Mary.

Albert and Marie Curtis and I went to Freeport to visit my daughter and family, Glenn and Lillian Strait, and Colista and Steven Cogswell.

Colista and Steven Cogswell are flying out to Illinois next Tuesday so Colista can have another opinion and hopefully treatment so as to help her problems.

Carl Curtis was up and had coffee with me over the weekend. He is about done work at New Hampshire. I don't know where he'll go next.

Tim Curtis, my grandson, called on me over the weekend. I'm always glad to see them.

I had a doctor's appointment this week and also x-rays on Tuesday. Then we went down to Lo Macks for lunch.

Wednesday, Marie Curtis and I went to Lewiston, so had lunch at Applebees. That also is a good place to eat.

Marie Curtis received word her cousin, Joseph Bedard, had passed on.

Kathy Littlehale called on Anita Hakala recently. She came up to see me, but I wasn't home. Hope she'll come down again.

That's it for this week. Keep well and warm until next time.

The water main in West Paris objected to all this cold below-zero weather here on Main Street. A break at Pioneer Street and Route 219 was discovered at daybreak on Tuesday. The temperature was 15 to 18 degrees below. It was evening before the brave workers could get it repaired. What a tough job they had. It was a difficult day for the homeowners without water. At least we could keep warm inside.

On Sunday, Jan. 26, the Rev. Joy Gasta of the Universalist Church will have as her sermon topic, "A Good War?" To justify war, Christians have relied on the words of people like Paul, Augustine, and Jefferson, but not Jesus. Why not? Jim Burke is music director.

On Thursday, Jan. 30, Cabin Fever Countdown will again be offered at the Universalist Church from 1 to 4 p.m. There will be games, puzzles and crafts, with a special craft each week. The first week will be instructions in knitting. You may bring your own project or use the supplies there. A luncheon will be offered from 12 to 1 p.m. Soup, sandwich, dessert and beverage for $4. You do not have to attend both the luncheon and the afternoon activity, but anyone is welcome to attend one or both. There is no charge for the afternoon activity. Come and join the fun and fellowship.

The Goodwill Fellowship will meet at the Universalist Church on Monday, the 27th. A remembrance potluck supper is at 6 p.m., and all are asked to use a recipe from one of the Forward Fellowship cookbooks or from one of the old-time members. This should bring back a lot of good memories.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Hello from Albany Township. We hope that the cold hasn't been too difficult to bear. At one point, we had both our oil furnace and woodstove going to help keep warm. It's not too bad, until the wind picks up.

We were very happy to see Edna back at the organ on Sunday. We have all missed her greatly.

The next bake sale is coming up: Saturday, Feb. 1 starting at 10 a.m. at the Bethel Foodliner (IGA). As usual, we hope that everyone will be able to make it out to purchase some wonderful home baked goodies. We are also raffling off a lovely afghan, and tickets will be sold during the sale as well as one for $1 or three for $2. All of the proceeds from the bake sale and raffle go directly to the Youth Group.

Bible Study is Thursday night starting at 6:30 at the home of Fernand and Holle Corriveau. Although we missed last week's study, we understand that the study group didn't get very far into the book of Jeremiah.

Youth Group meets beginning at 5 p.m. at the Hall for the younger kids, with the older kids meeting at 6 p.m. to begin song rehearsal. The kids will be singing at church the first Sunday of February, and then going to the Veterans' Home the second Saturday of February.

Best wishes. And keep warm.

From the Bethel Rotary Club

This week in Rotary, 1999/2000 Past District Governor Mike McGovern addressed the group on The Rotary Foundation. The mission of The Rotary Foundation is to support the efforts of Rotary International in the fulfillment of the Object of Rotary and the achievement of world understanding and peace through local, national, and international humanitarian, educational, and cultural programs.

Mike shared three different images of a person walking that personifies how the work of Rotary Foundation works. The first picture was of Kim Phuc, the young girl who was running from the napalm and trying to escape war. The foundation assists us in trying to foster world understanding and peace in order to better places to live, an area where there is still a lot of work to do.

Next was a picture of Nelson Mandela at a time when he was only allowed to walk in prison. Look at what he was willing to sacrifice to advance the cause of understanding and peace.

Lastly, it was the image of Louis Fomena, the last young child in the Americas afflicted with polio. Rotary's financial support to eradicate polio comes through the foundation.

Mike explained the new Rotary Peace and Conflict Resolution program where 70 students are receiving graduate education on this topic. Also, a student from our district who is the executive director of Friends Forever in Portsmouth will be in the next class of this program.

Mike mentioned he was pleased that the matching district grant funds are just about all used for the first time. Mike sees this as an encouraging sign that we are out there and active in furthering the mission of the foundation.

The foundation also assists with our Group Study Exchanges where we now have a group in India and a group from India will be visiting the district in May.

There are easy ways to give to the foundation like by giving service through the club or by becoming a Paul Harris Fellow.

Mike summed up his thoughts that the foundation allows persons to walk who may not otherwise be able to and it allows us to walk in our hearts.

Congratulations to Bruce and Shirley Powell. They both received the Paul Harris Fellow recognition. 1989/1990 Past District Governor Jim Labrie, via letter, presented this recognition in honor of Bruce and Shirley. Bruce was president of our club when Jim was district governor, both very much supporting the

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Many thanks to Paul and Vicki Perrault of Kit 'N Kaboodle, for hosting a Business After Hours last week. It was great to see so many friends there.

More than three dozen chamber members gathered last Wednesday at the Grand Summit Hotel for the Marketing Committee's first seminar of 2003 on "How to Package Your Product or Service." Our guest speaker was Mark Turek, from the Maine Office of Tourism, who spoke to the many opportunities that the Tourism Office has for businesses to promote their unique accommodation or service. He gave many useful "how to's" and distributed several good handouts. If you happened to miss the seminar

TANGLE RIDGE HYPNOSIS
Fern Tilsley, a certified hypnotherapist, recently opened Tangle Ridge Hypnosis at 10 East Bethel Road in Rumford (369-9783). Tilsley helps clients with a wide variety of issues, including weight loss, stress management, smoking cessation and pain management. "Most changes that we need to make in our lives need more than willpower to accomplish them," said Tilsley. "The subconscious mind receives and retains all the messages and conditioning that we receive throughout our lives from our backgrounds and social and religious experiences. Many of these have been negatives, and have led us to believe that quitting smoking is hard, that we have to expect to be overweight because it runs in the family, or that we are highstrung, so stress is just part of our life and we have to accept it. None of these is true. The subconscious can be reprogrammed with hypnosis to replace anxieties and negative beliefs with positive beliefs." Tilsley has a particular interest in pain management, and envisions establishing a pain clinic in the future. "In many areas of the country hypnotherapists work in conjunction with doctors for the benefit of the patients," she said.

and would like to come to the office to pick up copies of what was distributed, please let us know. Many thanks to the chamber's marketing contractor, Wende Gray of Gray Marketing, for arranging this seminar, to Yankee Vacations for sponsoring it and to Sunday River Ski Resort for hosting it.

The Bethel area has been appearing quite a bit in the media lately. Yankee Magazine's January issue contains a lovely article on Bethel and Sunday River Ski Resort. The Country Courier's Western Foot-hills edition carried several articles, including the front page, promoting the 2003 Bethel WinterFest. Fly Fishing New England, the winter 2003 edition, had a terrific article on the Androscoggin River Reborn about the world-class fly fishing opportunities that abound. The brand-new, 2003 Maine Invites You Magazine, the state of Maine's primary tourism response piece, has showcased the wonderful hidden jewels of Grafton Notch State Park. All this good press helps us in our goal of creating a flourishing year-round economy.

The 2003 Bethel WinterFest is quickly approaching. Keep an eye out for all the press releases on the event, as well as posters and programs promoting the individual events of the 10-day festival. It is the chamber's hope that local folks, as well as our visitors, enjoy these activities.

From the Telstar Alumni Association

The Telstar Alumni Association held its first monthly meeting this year on Tuesday, Jan. 14. Items discussed at the meeting were: (1) Educational Assistance Award. This award is available to any senior who has a parent or grandparent who is an alumnus of Telstar Regional High School. Applications for this award are available in the guidance office at the school. Any student who thinks he/she might qualify for this award, please apply. (2) Spring Dance. We are in the process of scheduling another dance for April. Will let you know as things are finalized. (3) Class reunions: Class of '73 (30 years), Alice Deegan (665-2020); Deven Andrews (527-2375); Kevin Trindard (428-3377) and Belinda Poor (392-1166). They are trying to organize your class reunion for this summer and would like other classmates to contact them for input as to what they would like to do. Other classes that need people to jump on the bandwagon and help get the ball rolling for reunions are: 1978 (25 years), 1983 (20 years), 1988 (15 years), 1993 (10 years) and 1998 (5 years).

Anyone who is interested in sharing information for any of these reunion years, please come to the next monthly alumni meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 11, at Telstar Conference Room (across from the guidance office) at 6:30 p.m.

From the Andover Education Fund

Wendell Sweatt and his wife, Dot, paid a visit to officers Sharon Hutchins and Janet Farrington recently. An additional $15,000 was generously donated to the Sweatt Family Memorial Scholarship Fund, which brings the investments to $40,000. This award was established in 1998 to benefit Andover students pursuing vocational training. We are in hopes to award this scholarship yearly in the near future. Many thanks to the Sweatt family for their generosity and their vision in providing for the future of Andover students.

We have received a note from John Fox Jr. that the John and Eunice Fox Prize Scholarship will be increased to $2,000 with the Class of 2003. An essay submitted to the board of directors in mid-May should outline the civic contributions a student has made to the town of Andover while he or she has lived here. Thank you to John and Judy Fox.

Those contributing to and finishing up the annual campaign include: Keith and Suzanne Stowell; Bartlett, Bethel, in memory of Billy Stowell; Bette Merrill Britt, Blue Hill; Central Maine Power Co., Augusta; David and Philena Chaisson, Andover; John P. and Martha Webb Chandler, Laconia, N.H.; Glen and Lana Fyrberg, Andover; William and Geraldine Kelley, Andover; Dale and Karen McKay, Andover; Gerard and Judith Michaud Jr., Andover; Charles and Christine St. John, Princeton, N.J.; Roderick Sidelinger, Summerfield, Fla.; Robert and Janet Spidell, San Clemente, Calif.; and Joy Szekely, Weston, Mass., in memory of Barbara Williams.

These donors bring the annual campaign total to $26,130 and the yearly donation total from last January to $28,604. Thank you to all who have so generously supported and encouraged this program. The future educational goals of Andover students are more secure because of your benevolence.

From the Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Jan. 2 found only one Post member and five Auxiliary members present for the 6 p.m. potluck supper, but others arrived in time to partake of ice cream and a birthday cake made by Diddy Johnson to celebrate 84 years for Vera Cross, who would mark that milestone the following day. Vera has held many offices in this auxiliary and at the county level. She has been the Poppy chairman for so long that everyone has lost count, and whenever help is needed she can be counted on to pitch in. She is now an expert in dishwashing, having done it so many times for all kinds of gatherings.

It was reported that 16 fruit baskets had been given out before Christmas to several local shut-ins, mostly members, also to three members and three veterans who reside at Ledgeview and one former local man at the Western Maine Veterans' Home. Thank you notes were received from others who had previously been given fruit baskets and from the National Honor Society for the turkeys that were donated for the Senior Citizen dinner that they always do before Thanksgiving and for other donations.

One member assisted at the Veterans' Home with the Christmas Gift Shop, which allows the residents to pick out gifts for their loved ones. Others there wrapped the gifts and prepared them for distribution. Sylvia Dunham, Sondra Withey and Olive Risko traveled to Togus VA facility to sing with others at the Christmas Party there on Dec. 15.

New application forms are being devised for scholarships that the Unit will give out next year after the applicants have completed the first semester successfully. Last year's recipients were Brenda Hurd and Samantha Howe. Again, preference will be given to applicants who are members of the Auxiliary, then to children, grandchildren, etc., of members.

Next meeting will be on Feb. 6 with a 6 p.m. potluck supper. On Feb. 20, it is expected that the post will serve the usual Oyster Stew Supper.

From the Oxford Pomona Grange 2

Oxford Pomona last met on Dec. 8 at Oxford Grange 46 in Welchville. As they had done for the past several years, members brought items for the local food pantry rather than exchanging gifts. However, there were many greeting cards exchanged.

The program consisted of the singing of traditional holiday songs, and two teams consisting of two members each were given a page with pictures, each supposed to make them think of a specific Christmas song title, and were given a limited time to do so. Gail Butterfield's team won by quite a large margin. Mystery packages were won by Russell Yates, Vicki Clark, Lynn Mason-Courtney and Ginny Easter. Connie Tuttle was the 50/50 winner.

After the meeting members adjourned to the dining room where potluck refreshments and fellowship were enjoyed.

No meetings are scheduled for January and February, so the next meeting will be on March 4 for Music Night at Rumford Grange 115, which is located at Rumford Corner. Supper will be furnished by the host Grange at 6:30 p.m. before the 7:30 p.m. meeting. Visiting Grangers will provide desserts.

From the West Paris Old Home Days Committee

This year the West Paris Old Home Days will run June 6, 7 and 8. We have lots of new events and people to head them. We are always looking for new ideas and workers.

We are planning on having three 20 x 40-foot tents. Two will be for horticultural and one for a petting zoo. Our midway will consist of games of skill and chance and luck, all with progressive prizes. We own several games, we are building lots more and we will rent all we can. This needs someone to head it up soon. All the food vendors are returning this year along with a few new ones. There will be Beano all weekend, a dunk tank, a jail and we have music planned for most of the weekend. Finnish Line will be back this year with racing entertainment, along with Sunday's soapbox derby racing. Early American Life Skills will be on the first floor of the Grange Hall. The Historical Hall will have a supper and dance on Friday evening, the alumni dinner meeting and social on Saturday evening. Saturday morning will be the big parade and our annual car show at Agnes Gray School.

As of now we have these people

These days, imaging is everything.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCEPTIONAL CARE RESPONDS TO THE GROWING NEEDS OF OUR COMMUNITY.

Imaging is a necessary tool in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of many conditions. Physicians and their patients rely on the benefits of this technology for the best medical care.

Stephens Memorial Hospital is responding to this increasing need with a major commitment to the latest imaging equipment. Our plans call for expanding and modernizing our facilities. Highlights will include a Women's Imaging Center, where women can receive mammography, bone density testing, and ultrasound in a private, comfortable space. In addition to our facilities for nuclear medicine and CAT scanning, we will build an area for a fixed MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) unit. It's a real commitment to our community.

Kindergarteners at Crescent Park School have been very busy this month!

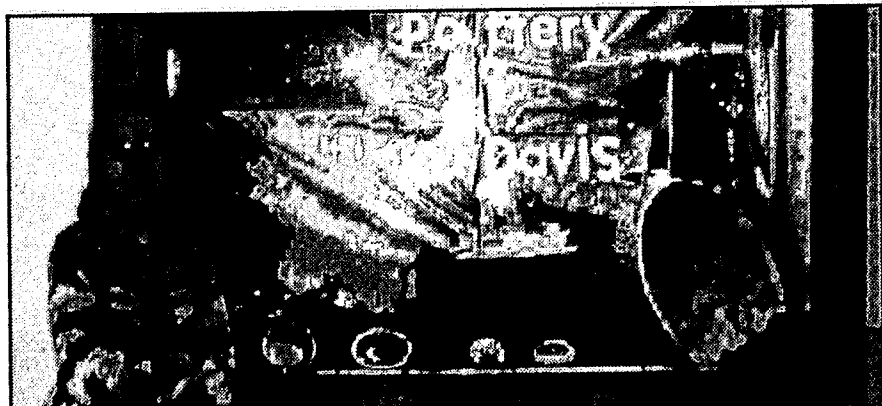

Kindergarteners at Crescent Park School practice reading and math skills through the use of board games every Friday afternoon. They also develop patience as they learn to take turns and play cooperatively.

Children from all three kindergarten classrooms at CPS recently worked together during a joint craft sharing experience before the holidays. They delighted in making gifts and cards for family members.

Deanna Davis displays her artistic talents at Telstar. All pieces of her work were created in Mr. Kavanagh's Pottery Seminar. Hand built or wheel thrown, utilitarian or purely aesthetic, clay has been worked with since the dawn of humankind. This seminar course is a semester of self-discovery and total self-immersion into this most basic of all building materials.

From the White Mountain National Forest

Prices for small commercial and personal use sales for forest products are $20 per contract starting Jan. 1.

This increase will most likely affect those interested in cutting their own firewood, said Forest Timber Management Officer Frank Hagan. "The cost for personal-use firewood is $5 per hundred cubic feet with a minimum charge of $20 per permit."

A hundred cubic feet is about 1.27 times larger than a cord which is how the permits were issued in the past."

If you are interested in cutting your firewood from the National Forest, please contact one of the following offices to obtain a permit and learn where cutting is possible: Evans Notch Ranger Station, Information Center, 18 Mayville Road, Bethel, ME 04217-4400 (824-2134); Androscoggin Ranger Station, 300 Glen Road, Gorham, N.H. 03581 (603)-466-2713

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The winter course ("Four Centuries of New England History") at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center begins on Jan. 28 at the O'Neil Robinson House and will continue for five sessions until April 29. Registrations are still being accepted. To register, please call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 or use the e-mail address:

info@bethelhistorical.org
Visitors to the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center during 2002 came from a variety of locations. Thirty-three states and the District of Columbia were represented with a number of visitors from the United Kingdom and Canada also logged into the guest books kept at the society's two buildings.

Society Receives $15,000 Grant

Henry Stewart, Esq., Capital Campaign Foundation and Corporate Grant Coordinator at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center, announced this week that the society had received a $15,000 grant from the Davis Family Foundation. The grant will be used in supporting the second phase of the capital campaign, which will add more than 10,000 square feet to the historic 1821 Robinson House that will house state-of-the-art collection storage, a research library, traditional craft room, a history classroom for students of all ages, plus office and collection management space.

"We are very pleased with this gift," said Stewart in making the announcement. "It may assist us in any matching opportunities that become available in the future," he added.

More than a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over thirty-five years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

LONGTIME FERRYMAN ISAAC 'IKE' EASTER operates the Rumford Point Ferry in this ca. 1940s view. The ferry was replaced in 1955 by the Martin Bridge, which allowed a faster crossing of the Androscoggin River between Rumford Corner and Rumford Point. This photograph is among thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds to support its Regional History Center and plans an addition to the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House on Broad Street, which now houses exhibit galleries, offices, and the museum shop. Completion of this project will provide for improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, genealogical and historical research, and traditional crafts. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910; e-mail info@bethelhistorical.org; Web site www.bethelhistorical.org.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENT NOTICE OF PUBLIC FORECLOSURE SALE Pursuant to 14 MRSA Section 6326

By virtue of and in execution of a Judgement of Foreclosure and Sale entered August 20, 2002, entered in the District Court, District Eleven, Division of N. Oxford, Docket No. RUM-RE-02-29, in an action entitled Green Point Credit Corp. (hereinafter referred to as "Mortgagee") versus Tammy Ward and Lawrence Ward (hereinafter referred to as "Mortgagors"), for the foreclosure of a mortgage with respect to certain property located at 349 Songo Pond Rd., Bethel, Maine, said mortgage dated October 1, 1999 and recorded in the Oxford County (S. Paris) Registry of Deeds in Book 2754, Page 191 (hereinafter referred to as the "Mortgage"), to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description of the property in question. The statutory ninety (90) day redemption period having elapsed without redemption, notice is hereby given that said property will be sold at public sale on Wednesday, February 26, 2003 at 4:00pm at the Law Office of Cynthia Dill, 6 D Street, South Portland, Maine 04106. The property, which consists of land together with a manufactured home and improvements thereon, shall be sold at public auction to the highest bidder. Any and all persons wishing to bid for the property must, prior to the start of the auction, register with the auctioneer, sign an agreement to be bound by the terms of the sale and pay a deposit of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) in the form of a cashier's or certified check made payable to Green Point Credit, the Mortgagee. Unsuccessful bidders shall receive a refund of their deposit immediately. As to the successful bidder, the deposit shall be non-refundable, and it will be credited to the purchase price. The successful bidder will be required to sign a Purchase and Sale Agreement at the conclusion of the auction, a copy of which shall be available in advance from Andrew M. Braceras, Esq., PO Box 17771, Portland, ME 04112, tel. 207-749-7836. The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable in cash or certified check at closing, which shall occur within thirty (30) days of the date of the public sale. At said closing, the Mortgagee shall present the successful bidder with a Quitclaim Deed Without Covenant thereby releasing the property into the successful bidder. The sale shall be subject to any and all tax or sewer liens of record, leases, tenancies, and parties in possession, easements, rights, restrictions, and encumbrances affecting the premises to the extent in force and applicable. The property will be sold AS IS WHERE IS. In the event the successful bidder fails to close under the Purchase and Sale Agreement, then, as liquidated damages, the deposit shall be retained by the Mortgagee, and the Mortgagee shall be entitled to purchase successful bidder's rights under the Purchase and Sale Agreement for One Dollar ($1.00). Mortgagee reserves the right to make a junior bid at the completion of the auction proceedings. Mortgagee makes no representations or warranties with respect to the property or title thereto, and disclaims any obligation to do so. Mortgagee reserves the right to bid without making the required deposit and may pay for the property with a credit against the indebtedness owed to it by the Mortgagors. For further information, respecting the auction and legal and bidding information, contact Andrew M. Braceras, Esq., Milliken & Braceras, PO Box 17771, Portland, ME 04112, tel (207) 749-7836. Additional terms and conditions may be announced at the time of sale.
